Low barrier to entry for the jobs

Work reviews

I think I will like it to have more simple basic skills to add to the ones you have so people with very little skill can also participate

Whatever is best

- Project Deadlines and Tracking: A feature that shows milestones, deadlines, and progress tracking so both sides can see how the work is progressing.

- Campus Job Alerts: Students could receive notifications when new jobs matching their skills are posted.

- Collaboration Feature: Students could team up for bigger projects, for example a programmer working with a designer.

AI recommendations to connect potential employers and freelancers

Options for people without skills

A secure payment system, student verification, and a rating system to ensure trust between freelancers and clients

It should have a feature where students upload their current academic standing for screening. I feel like the freelancing opportunities should be controlled in such a manner that a certain range of students (based on academic performance) should be allowed to engage , so that students don't abandon their degree or get carried away by the financial gain of the freelancing opportunity.

A chatbot that could answer questions if i have difficulties
